Glassgold joins New Directions board

Eddie Glassgold has been named a board member of New Directions. After graduating from Ohio University, where he majored in business and journalism, Mr. Glassgold worked with a major advertising agency in New York City followed by Procter & Gamble. He went on to work in a small family textiles business, which he helped grow by expanding the product line. He has participated in triathlons and has a passion for staying in shape. Mr. Glassgold lives part time in Santa Barbara with his fiancé, Joanne, and has two grown children.
